Infrared heaters directly heat objects or bodies within range.
The heat is stored much longer resulting in energy savings.

Infrared panel heaters emit a very high ratio of heat as radiant heat. This is on the same wavelength as the rays from the sun. Infrared panels heat objects directly, rather than warming the air (which is what convection heat does), creating an all over feeling of heat.

Compared with convection heaters, there is no air circulation, and therefore no dust circulation. The air does not dry out when using infrared panel heaters creating a clean and healthy room climate.

Each heater can connect to your Wi-Fi via an app to be controlled remotely. Each model comes equipped with a thermostat that will automatically turn off the heater once the desired room temperature has been reached.

Easily installed on your wall or ceiling.
